

The Belgian Pride 2019 – All For One!

To be yourself. Even today, a lot of LGBTI+ people are still unable to do so.

Fifty years ago, the Stonewall riots have marked the beginning of a fight for equal rights for the LGBTI+ community. These demonstrations were mainly led by a diverse and intersectional group of trans-people, people of color and sex workers. Their fight for equal rights laid the first brick for the Pride. More and more people can be themselves more freely today thanks to this group of people and their successors.

Through #AllforOne, with solidarity and intersectionality as baselines, we want to emphasize that everyone is unique and deserves their place in society without discrimination, no matter the reason. Let us stand up for each other and for the people who still face discrimination and exclusion every day, by uniting under the colours of the rainbow!
